Announcing Calls for Proposals for 2 Lines of Funding:

- To Address Health Equity
- To Improve Treatment of Patients with Auto-Immune Diseases or Cancer

GLEN ELLEN, Calif., (October 2020) – The DAISY Foundation announces the availability of funding for research and evidence-based practice (EBP) projects for 2 lines of work.

1. NEW THIS YEAR – DAISY HEALTH EQUITY GRANTS - The DAISY Foundation is eager to support the delivery of patient- and family-centered care by funding nursing research and EBP projects that address interventions to improve the health of people/families affected by social determinants of health. This funded work will contribute to the evidence base of interventions that improve the health outcomes of disadvantaged patients and families. Further, we expect it to support the needs of the community as assessed by the organizations where the principal investigators work. Grants for studies that involve clinical research will be funded up to $7,500. EBP project grants that use patient-focused data to study and develop improved nursing practices will be funded up to $2,500.

The deadline to submit an application for a DAISY Health Equity Grant is Monday, January 25, 2021.

2. Additionally, DAISY announces its annual funding of J. Patrick Barnes Grants for Nursing Research and EBP. These grants address treatment of patients and/or families with cancer or auto-immune disease. Grants for studies that involve clinical research will be funded up to $7,500. EBP project grants that use patient or family or community focused data to study and develop improved nursing practices will be funded up to $2,500.

The deadline to submit a letter of intent for a J. Patrick Barnes Grant is Wednesday, February 24, 2021.

Successful applicants for any DAISY grant may also apply for subsequent funding to share their findings at professional conferences. The Lynne Doll Grants for Dissemination of Findings will provide DAISY Health

Equity and J. Patrick Barnes grantees with up to $2,000 for expenses and fees for presenting at a professional conference. This program is named in memory of DAISY Foundation Board member Lynne Doll, who championed its research program.

The DAISY Foundation provides these grants to support registered nurses who continually evaluate their practice, seek answers to clinical questions in an effort to improve their practice, and change their practice based on evidence and evaluation of that change.

Nurses who have research/EBP experience, as well as those who do not have experience are encouraged to apply.
